Hi Virtual Science Chorus - Virus sounds great! Emilija is working on the video, which is coming out very cute, but we need two things:

- more videos, each about 30 seconds long, of people coughing;
- more videos of people shouting "RNA" along with the music.

When making the coughing videos, would be nice if the beginning of the coughing were in time with the rhythm, then can become more chaotic.

Also, we're putting together videos of our previous Science Chorus performances to post for the upcoming Cambridge Science Festival, and we're considering including a brief spoken video intro to each song. First one we're working on is One Whole Step for Man: Songs of Space Exploration. I'm happy to do all the intros myself, but it would be much more fun to have them done by many different people. Let me know if there's a song you'd be interested in introducing.

Thanks, and enjoy the great weather,

David
